AMBULANCE ELEVEN NOW AFTER PITTSBURGH GAME

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

Pittsburgh's claim to the college championship of the gridiron for 1917 will be clouded unless it accepts the challenge sent by the United States army ambulance corps, of Allentown, Pa. A reply from the Panthers is expected almost any day now. The Usacs, who will be seen here Thanksgiving Day against Al Exendine's Georgetown eleven, announce that they are in the running for the championship.

The Usacs, unlike the Newport Naval Reserve, Eddie Mahan's Marines, or the various officers' eleven at the training camps, is composed largely of undergraduates. The first team averages slightly more than twenty-one years of age. The most brilliant players, Charlie Murphy, "Curry" Cramer, Lindsey Moore, Jack Dunn, and Brooks Brewer, have yet to finish their college education.

The most valuable player on the team, Cramer, is but nineteen years old. He is an undergraduate from Hamilton University, and in his sturdy line bucking is due the Usacs' recent victories over Eddie Mahan's Marines.

If Pitt turns down this challenge the Panthers will have a hard time convincing folks of their right to the gridiron title for the year.

Camp Meade To Play.

The Camp Meade officers eleven are to have the assistance of Al Exendine, Georgetown's instructor, in preparation for their contest with the Philadelphia Marines. Gus Welch, former Carlisle star, gave his aid to the Hilltoppers for the Navy game, and now Exie will repay him by going out to Camp Meade and teaching the soldiers.

The Camp Meade squad is made up of the following officers:

Position	Player	Weight	Age	College
Quarterback	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg
Fullback	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg
Halfback	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg
Linebacker	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg
End	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg
Tackle	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg
Guard	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg
Center	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg
Kicker	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg
Punter	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg
Linebacker	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg
End	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg

Center	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg
Kicker	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg
Punter	McGuire	185	24	Gettysburg

Camp Meade will battle the Conshohocken A. C. of Norristown, Pa.

Syracuse Is Favorite.

Syracuse is favored to win from Colgate at Syracuse next Saturday. The Salt City tribe has lost only to Pittsburgh, while Colgate has been defeated only by Brown. In neither game did the losing team suffer any damage to its honor, and so this week's battle is expected to attract 20,000 spectators. It is for the up-State championship of New York.

Pels Ewing, Villanova's star end, has been declared ineligible by the faculty and he will not face the Navy on Saturday.

Dartmouth will make two visits to Pennsylvania next year, playing the Quakers at Philadelphia and Penn State at State College.

Fred Daly, Yale's varsity captain in 1916, who was coach at Andover last year, is in France with an ambulance unit made up largely of Andover boys.

Bucky McDonald and Dave McGinnis, guards at Lehigh, have been ordered to report for examination under the selective draft law. This is sure to weaken the team on the eve of the Lafayette game.

Weston, Michigan's quarterback, is hogging all the front pages in the Middle West. Against Cornell he was the Wolverine's best ground-gainer. He made 300 yards for Michigan against the Ithacans.

Yale's freshman eleven contains the names of Shevlin, Hoffelinger, Dines, Neville, and Tripp, all brothers or near relatives of famous Yale players of other days. Shevlin is a cousin of the late Tom Shevlin.

Rutgers will play the Newport Naval Reserve at today's bowling field, Brooklyn, November 24. On Thanksgiving Lehigh will face Rutgers on the Polo Grounds. With the Fordham-Georgetown clash, these are the biggest games offered to the metropolis.

Joe Guyon, formerly of Carlisle, was responsible for four of the seven touchdowns made by Georgia Tech Saturday against the University of Georgia. The Capital Hill lads are depending on him to lead the team in the forward passing in wonderful fashion against the New Orleans outfit.

By TAD MIKE O'DOWD IS HAILED AS MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMP

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

All hail Michael O'Dowd, a fine brother of a lad from St. Paul, who today wears the middleweight championship laurels. He did what Mike Gibbons, Jimmy Cobby, Eddie East, field and even Jack Dillon, the famous "giant killer," could not do, put away Al McCoy, of Brooklyn. O'Dowd did it in the sixth round of their battle in Brooklyn last night, after giving the champion the worst beating he had ever taken.

McCoy won the title on April 7, 1914, when he put George Chip to sleep with a left-hand swing to the jaw. He passed out on Nov. 14, 1917, when Mike O'Dowd swung a right to his jaw. Always a second-rater, it is unlikely that McCoy will ever be heard from again as a serious contender for the championship.

O'Dowd permitted McCoy to name the referee, allowed him five pounds advantage in weight, and beat him in his own town. McCoy today has no alibi whatever.

Both Men Hit Floor.

For three rounds O'Dowd's rushing tactics, with heavy blows to the body, wore down the champion. In the fourth O'Dowd dropped his man four times. That it was given and taken is shown by the fact that McCoy sent O'Dowd spinning to the canvas twice, though but for a second each time.

McCoy weathered the fifth by stalling and clinching, but in the fatal sixth he was compelled to open up before the whirlwind tactics of the man from St. Paul.

A right swing to the jaw upset him for the count of two. Another right and left to the jaw, doubling him up and exposing his jaw. O'Dowd drove in a hard right and became the champion, for McCoy was dead to the world. That last round lasted just 1 minute and 25 seconds.

The big crowd, never liking McCoy, rose to its feet and acclaimed the latest of a long line of middleweight titlholders.

Tom Chandler's victory in twenty-three rounds over Dooney Harris in California, April 13, 1917, is the first middleweight title contest on record. They fought for $5,000 a side with bare knuckles, which was the style then, and under London prize ring rules. Chandler dropped out of sight almost immediately, his name disappearing from the records.

George Rooks claimed the title, and in 1874 was defeated by Mike Donovan, who retained it till 1882. He never defended his honors, and the title passed until 1884, when Jack Dempsey, the famous Nonpareil, laid claim to it.

Dempsey defeated George Fullam in '84 in twenty-two rounds. Two years later he battled George La Blanche, the marine, for $3,500 a side.

and a belt. Dempsey won in the thirty-third round.

In 1880 Dempsey and La Blanche met again, the first bout had been at Larchmont, but the second was at San Francisco and saw the first use of the famous pivot blow which sent Dempsey down to defeat in the thirty-second round.

When La Blanche was knocked out by Young Mitchell in '91, the title went back to Dempsey, who many believed was treated unfairly by La Blanche's use of the pivot blow.

After defeating Australian Billy Murphy in twenty-eight rounds, Dempsey took on Bob Fitzsimmons, a new arrival in the United States. Fitzsimmons knocked out his opponent in the thirteenth round at New Orleans, January 14, 1897.

Fitz defeated Jim Hall and Dan Cresson before he went into the heavyweight division.

Two Claims the Honors.

Tommy Ryan and Kid McCoy laid claim to the middleweight crown, McCoy knocking out his rival in fifteen rounds. Becoming too heavy, McCoy advanced to the light-heavyweight class, leaving Ryan alone in his glory. The latter retired in 1907, a swarm of claimants arising.

In 1908 Billy Papke disposed of Ketchel in twelve rounds at Los Angeles, only to have the thing reversed two months later. Following Ketchel's tragic death in Mississippi in 1909, Papke claimed the honors, defeating Willie Lewis in France in 1910.

In 1911 Cyclone Johnny Thompson, an American, worked "Pape" at Sydney, New South Wales, but Thompson soon outgrew the weight and then a horde of claimants arose, including Jimmie Cobby, Frank Klaus, Eddie McGeer, George Chip, and others.

Klaus Is Put Away.

Klaus appeared to have the best claim to the crown, having gained a decision over Pape on a foul at Paris in 1913. Jack Chip showed him away twice with chips on the chin and he reigned alone.

Then came the unexpected victory of McCoy at Brooklyn. He was extremely careful not to tackle any of the tough middleweights running around the country and would not box more than ten rounds. His turtle defense proved good enough to protect him in ten rounds against any foe, and many tried to catch him napping, only to fail.

McCoy was expected to meet McCoy for the world's championship at Madison Square Garden, but the bout fell through and shortly after Darcy was refused admission to New York City. His death followed a few months later.

FRIDLEY GATHERS HIGH GAME SCORE WITH TOTAL OF 137

Fridley, of the Nationals, earns top-notch figures from today's bowling records. The National bowlers, of the National Capital duckpin circuit, got into the wood for 137 in last night's engagements against the Potomacs, and while his team dropped two out of three, he stands as the topnotcher for the night.

Tanna, of the Palm Cafe and Kama, of Corby's, with 184 each, are the runners-up. Heid, of Examiners, pushed the Mt. Pleasant League bowlers with a mark of 133.

Others to get in the collection of high-game scorers are Winsor, of Amity, with 123; Shulman, of St. John's, with 121, and R. Robb, of the same team, with 122.

Comets swept Princeton off the boards with three straight in the Mt. Pleasant circuit. Corby took two out of three from the Federal rollers, while Palm Cafe won two of the scheduled three from the Meridian team.

Columbia duckpin bowlers staged three remarkable games in which the scores resulted in two. The Columbia bowlers won the first game from Dick's Peta, and the next two ended in scores of 455 and 454 each.

Phils Bros. won three straight from the R. F. Harvey's bunch in the Fourteenth Street League. Burtner's 118 was the best score of the evening.

Holmes' Bakery took all the gravy from Judd & Detweiler's in the Commercial, winning three easy games.

WARRENTON HUNT CLUB STAGES ANNUAL EVENT

The Warrenton Hunt Club races, the feature of the annual fall meeting at Warrenton, Va., beginning Saturday, will draw the usual quota of Washington horsemen. Steeplechasing will be the prime attraction, as an unusually good lot of jumpers and cross-country horses have been entered in the various events.

There will be flat races also. The flat events will be held on the turf. There are five races scheduled. Frank J. Bryan, secretary of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association, is in charge.

MEDICALS TAKE ONE.

The Medical Corps basketball team of Fort Myer handed the Quartermasters five a 43-10-8 beating at the fort last night. Byrnes, of the winners, with eight baskets, led both teams in scoring.

MATCH CALLED OFF.

Joe Turner has called off his scheduled match with Jack Hines for tomorrow night. Turner believes he is in no condition to face Hines. The Greek collected the forfeit and left town, it is reported.

TECH WON'T PLAY GAME.

ATLANTA, Nov. 15.—President G. K. Mathewson, of Georgia Tech, has declined to allow the Yellowjackets to journey North to play a post-season football game with the University of Pittsburgh for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Sport, Not the Score

Cornell University's high principles in athletics were never better shown than by Coach Al Sharpe's statement, following that 42-to-0 defeat by Michigan last Saturday.

"It could be very easy to avoid such scores as 42 to 0 by simply not playing," says Sharpe, "but if the value of intercollegiate athletics is what the United States Government and what our council thinks it is, Cornell will continue to build men for future service regardless of scores."

"It is not a question of winning as much as being trained to play the game as if you were winning. Let us hope our Cornell teams will continue to do that."

Calling attention to the fact that few teams are living up to their last year's form, Sharpe continues:

"There is no team playing today that is making a good record that has not either veteran or experienced material around which to build."

"Can you conceive of Harvard, Princeton or Yale producing a team this year that could compare with their teams of former years? Well, the only difference is that Cornell is playing and they are not."

W. AND L. BOASTS OF LIGHT ELEVEN FOR HILLTOP GAME

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 15.—The lightest and youngest eleven Washington and Lee has had in many years will tackle the heavy Georgetown team Saturday at Roanoke. The average weight is 165 pounds and the average age nineteen years. Only four of the regulars have ever played in big college games, the others being either freshmen or graduates from the scrubs or class teams. Yet this same eleven is one of the most aggressive that has ever worn the Blue and White.

$5,000,000 FOR BOXING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—New York pugilistic followers paid $5,000,000 to see their pet sport during the life of the Frawley boxing law which passed out peacefully last night, according to today's announcement by the State athletic commission.

CHANGES MIGHTY SLIM.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Columbia's chances with Wesleyan Saturday look mighty slim today. Cochrane, Rosen and Houltham will be out of the game on account of "staleness." The student body opines "the subs are good, but not good enough."

WASHINGTON PROS TAKE GOLF HONOR IN BENEFIT MATCH

Jack Burgess, of Chevy Chase, and Freddy McLeod, of Columbia, proved a bit too strong for Jack Hutchinson, of Chicago, and Nipper Campbell, of Baltimore, in the match at Columbia for the benefit of the army girls' transport tobacco fund. The local men won by 2 and 1 after Hutchinson and Campbell had blown chances for evening up matters by missing eight foot putts.

The golf was quite the best seen in the pro matches here this year. Many holes were negotiated in par. Burgess got 70-79 for a 149 for the day's play. McLeod got 71-77 for 148. Campbell got the same totals as McLeod, while Hutchinson negotiated the thirty-six holes in 74-72 for 146.

Hutchinson's last nine holes got him a 35, while Burgess, who had a 36, did 38 out in the morning. The professionals excelled in approaching, which drew considerable comment from the gallery.

WOULD PLAY SCHOOLS.

The Seventy-ninth Company United States Marines, stationed at Quantico, Va., would like to arrange football games with Washington teams, and prefer engagements with the high school eleven. Leo Hirschfield is manager of the Junior Marines, and can be reached at the Seventy-ninth Company, Sixth Regiment, U. S. M. C., Quantico, Va.

BROWN EXPECTS TROUBLE.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 15.—Brown expects trouble in winning from Dartmouth this season and special preparations are being made for the game at Springfield, Mass., which defeated the Badgers 7 to 0. In six games the Ohio team has scored 251 points, while its opponents registered eleven, 35 to 0, has shaken the varsity considerably and defeated football is assured against the Hoosiers.

BOWIE RACE MEET ENDS SEASON FOR WASHINGTON FANS

Bowie's annual race meet opens Monday, continuing for eleven days, and will close the season for this section of the country. There will be few leading thoroughbreds missing when the bugle sounds, more than 1,000 horses now being stabled at the track, and many more being cared for by farmers of the vicinity.

The necessity of passports for all those crossing the Mexican border to the Tia Juana and Juarez tracks threatens to cancel those proposed race meets, thus keeping many horses in this country. In addition, the shortage of cars is keeping the thoroughbreds in Maryland. It is doubtful if they will be able to get away much before Christmas.

Bowie has attracted the silks of Harry Payne Whitney, John Sanford, E. F. Whitney, W. R. Coe, Gifford A. Cochran, Richard T. Wilson, J. K. L. Ross, Capt. N. J. Press, Wilfrid V. Wilfrid, Wilfrid Davies, John Lumsden, F. T. Zollinger, Samuel Ross, William F. Burck, J. O. Talbot, Grant Hugh Brown, W. R. Misset, Edward McBride, J. J. Farrell, Jr., J. W. McClelland, Preston M. OHIO STATE IS IN LINE FOR SECOND TITLE WIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The powerful Ohio State football eleven is within striking distance of its second successive Western Conference championship, crushing Wisconsin 16 to 3, and will meet the undefeated Illinois team at Columbus next Saturday in a game that probably will decide the 1917 honors of the big ten. Michigan, admitted to be a power, is not regarded as a contender for the championship as it only has one Conference game scheduled.

Considering comparative scores, critics favor Ohio as title winner. The Buckeyes rolled up a larger score against Wisconsin than did Illinois, which defeated the Badgers 7 to 0. In six games the Ohio team has scored 251 points, while its opponents registered eleven, 35 to 0, has shaken the varsity considerably and defeated football is assured against the Hoosiers.

SCHOLASTIC SEASON IS RAPIDLY NEARING END

The scholastic football season is rapidly nearing a close. In the title series but three games remain. Eastern and Tech take the field tomorrow. Next Tuesday Central and Western play, while a week from Friday, Business and Tech wind up the series.

Among the prep schools there are but few engagements. The Georgetown Preps have a game with the Army and Navy Preps scheduled for November 23, while Mt. St. Joseph's will be met on November 27 if present plans carry.

The Army and Navy Preps will go to Episcopal High School on Saturday for an engagement there and will close the season with the Georgetown Prep battle. St. Albans will play the Alexandria High School eleven on Saturday and may arrange another game.

WHI Decides Series.

Faculty athletic advisers of the high schools will thresh out the matter of a twenty-game basketball series today. Chairman Birch will endeavor to arrange a meeting today if possible, at which time the schedule will be ratified for the title series, and arrangements will be made to play the games at the Y. M. C. A.

Last season was the first in which the high schools got together for a championship series. Previous to last year the schools played in the Interscholastic League, which included A. N. Preps, Business, Western, Central, Eastern and St. Albans. When Western, Central, Business and Eastern withdrew from the High School League the old circuit, which was in operation for eight years, fell through.

It is rumored that one or two of the schools in the high school circuit favor a ten-game series. The matter will be taken up by the faculty advisers along with the selection of officials for the series.

Eastern Plays Tech.

Eastern and Tech take the field tomorrow in the eighth game of the high school football championship in the Capital Hill lads are depending on the game will have a distinct bearing on second position in the title scramble.

Tech is picked to be an easy winner. The Tech lads are in fine physical condition, and are expected to run up better than thirty points on Eastern. Tech will outweigh the Easterners. The Capital Hill lads are depending upon Thomas and Newman to carry them through.

The selection of Earl Fuller, of the Y. M. C. A., as coach of the Business High School basketball team, assures the strengthening of a competent man, and one who is generally well liked by the boys. Fuller has had unusual success in the boys' department of the "Y" and has come to be looked upon as one of the best versed men in basketball circles in this section. He has always put out fast teams at the "Y," and can be counted upon to bring Business up to his usual high standard.

Business got going in the opening games of the semester schedule yesterday. The Sophomores defeated the Seniors by 16 to 0, while the Juniors routed the Freshmen by 29 to 5.

GALLAUDET PLAYS DRAW WITH SOLDIER ELEVEN

Gallaudet College and the Sixty-ninth artillery eleven quit at 6 all in yesterday's practice game at Kendall Green. The Soldiers proved a match for the Gallaudet lads and the game was a rough one throughout.

Dear plunged his toe through the soldier's line for touchdown while the Artillery players baffled Gallaudet with a number of formations which led up to a touchdown scored by Wright.

TIGERS' SEASON ENDS.

PRINCETON, Nov. 15.—Princeton's "informal" football season will close in the Princeton stadium next Saturday, when the Tigers will meet an eleven from Washington barracks, Cape May, N. J. The only other game played this year by the Tigers was with the 307th field artillery, of Camp Dix.

GARRY HERRMANN TELLS OF PLAYER LIMIT CHOP

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 15.—In pledging the support of the big leagues to the minors, saying that they need present or they would survive present unworkable conditions in the national pastime, Garry Herrmann, chairman of the National Commission, told the assembled magnates here that the National League is seriously considering a reduction of the player limit.

Next season will be a serious one for both the major and the minor leagues, said Herrmann. "There will have to be retrenchment everywhere, if we hope to exist."

"The minor leagues need the majors and the majors need the minors. It is to our mutual interest that we should endeavor to find a way out of this situation."

"I can say with all frankness that the National League is seriously considering a policy of retrenchment which includes the reduction of the player limit."

Many Minors To Quit.

Following the defeat of the resolution to restrict the various minor circuits, it was announced today that many would not make a start next season, suspending for the duration of the war. The Central League is the first to make this statement. Others are expected to follow.

They gave the old razz to the proposed Union League, killing it by a vote of 11 to 2. The downfall of the scheme is being blamed upon Joe Tinker, who swung over to the lifeless faction just when all was lovely. The American Association will meet in Chicago, December 17, to consider plans for the season.

President Barrow, of the International League, will call his magnates together in New York City, December 19, to make plans for the 1918 season. Rumors are current that the International will vote to suspend for the duration of the war. Toronto alone made money last season. At least four clubs are almost bankrupt.

Western Will Start.

The Western League will start next season and continue as long as possible, according to President Dickerson. So will the Pacific Coast League and the Eastern Association.

Clark C. Griffith has succeeded in having all the minor leagues agree to staging a "bat and ball fun day" next June, turning over all the proceeds to his fund. Washington Post newspaper was collecting $3,000 for his fund.

BROWN WINS, 40 TO 0.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 15.—Brown had no trouble defeating the Camp Demers team, coached by Harry Houghton, here yesterday, the score being 40 to 0. The soldiers were helpless before the Brown players.
